Vote Today!

Though statewide percentages show a high turnout of registered voters in the northeast Louisiana parishes for the December 7 primary, we feel it our duty to remind our readers of the importance of today's election.

There are major offices in the state to be filled. The only manner in which the "people's choice" can go into office is for the people to register their choice in the voting

As for the office of governor, the Morning World, after endorsing a candidate in the first primary, felt that it should remain neutral, editorially, in the second primary, and has done so.

But this does not say that there is not a decision of great proportions facing the voters of Louisiana for the top spot on the ballot.

In addition, there are other state offices, state representatives and senators, sheriffs in some area parishes, police jurors, tax assessors and other decisions facing the Experience in self-government has taught us that the closer to home the office, the stronger is the voice of the people. Don't stand by and let other people choose your officials.

Vote today. Polls will be open from 6 a.m. until 8 p.m.

'Cold War' Deception

Deception in struggles among nations goes all the way from the Trojan Horse to the use of innocent looking women as intelligence agents. Now that "cold war" techniques are becoming more polished. we should be on the lookout for diplomatic booby traps in Khrushchev's bid to free world nations for trade to help vitalize the sagging Soviet economy.

This is not the first economic war the world has ever known. England, France and Spain kept up a running hot and cold struggle during the entire period of colonial development. Today's tension merely places that of former years on a worldwide basis.

For example, Khrushchev has outlined a massive expansion of the Russian fertilizer and chemical industry. Apparently, speed in this development is essential he admits he will have to shop for equipment in the West.

Why the urgency? Does the communist system now want to do something for its subjects so it will be looked upon as a good sys-

Certainly not. But even a police state can be overthrown if the people are sufficiently aroused. And apparently, the Russian people have been pushed too far and too long by agricultural and industrial quotas. It's either some sort of reward-or revolt.

So Khrushchev wants to purchase whole plants and the industrial processes with them. This recalls the Russian reparations team in western Germany following World War II. The team told U.S. military government officials it wanted to move a cement plant back to Russia-lock, stock and barrel.

"But the lime quarry by the plant is really the main element; you can't do anything with only the ovens," objected the Ameri-

"Then, we'll dig up the quarry, too," answered the Russian.

Now, the Soviet premier himself is talking the same way. And it's a far cry from the realism Stalin used to boast about. The Soviet Union wants to buy whole plants, the processes with them, and wants them delivered on long-term credits. It furthermore wants vetoed the profits that western manufacturers are accustomed to make.

Such a deal already appears loaded enough. Prior to World War II, Germany, Japan and Italy bought our scrap iron and airplanes while they prepared to shoot at us. But at least they paid the price. Khrushchev, it appears, wants to "bury us," but even then he wants to buy his own survival equipment at cost right at the factory.

Another of the booby traps in Soviet economic maneuvering is the matter of patent rights. If Khrushchev wants to buy free world pilot plants, copy them, and use our machinery and techniques to develop big plants to compete against us, what do we stand to gain? Those long-term credits the Soviet leader wants from our banks speak nothing of payments for use of our patents and copy-

The western nations might be inclined to develop closer economic ties with the Soviet Union and other satellite countries. But we cannot do so as long as Moscow remains a closed society in the international community of nations.

This same society rules out any basis for balanced trade and international agreements concerning patents and joint process development. The British would never have agreed to finance the Spanish Armada back in the 16th century unless Spain would have first paid interest on the note and also paid for any British patents in the ship building process.

We could at least drive that hard a bargain with our principal adversary today.

Sparks From The Winds

There's a Greek Air Force Major in Mississippi on a paid up mission which could do more for his country than many millions of dollars in foreign aid. On top of his primary purpose, there is also the priceless addition of good will.

Major George Fragoyannis is attending a course in aerodynamics at Mississippi State University with special emphasis on low speeds. It seems in this age of rockets and jets, the major is trying to design a better windmill as a public service to Greece.

"I came here because it was one of the best centers in the world in this field," Major Fragoyannis said. And with this note of practical good will, his story unfolds.

Greece is a country of some 300 islands. With stretches of sea separating the many small areas, the transmission of electrical power is a problem. Also the cost of gasoline or diesel oil to run engine-driven generators appears to be quite

"We have no Texas in Greece," said the major, not realizing, apparently, that Texans still take to the windmill to pump water in many areas of the oil-rich, Lone Star State.

So the major foresees the time when carefully designed windmill power stations can be located on every small island. These won't be traditional open-bladed propellers mounted on a tower, but blades mounted in a tube so as to make maximum use of even the slightest

Major Fragoyannis is studying hard for progress in his country through an economical source of electricity. We wish him the best

Key West, the popular winter resort at Florida's tip, owes its success to the depression. In the 1930s, some 12,000 residents were on relief. To restore prosperity, the city dressed itself up as a tropical resort by cleaning the beaches and redecorating its West Indies-style wooden houses.

Niagara Falls empowers the Western world's largest hydroelectric complex and its flow is carefully controlled. A United States-Canadian treaty prescribes a minimum rush of 50,000 cubic feet per second except in daylight during the tourist season, when the flow is increased for esthetic reasons.

A British industrialist has offered a $14,000 prize to the first man to propel himself over a milelong, figure-eight course, keeping at least 10 feet above the ground. The Royal Aeronautical Society is contributing grants and advice.

Power Behind Junta Holds Military Reins In Vietnam

WASHINGTON — The man to watch in the churning power struggle in South Vietnam's ruling military junta is littleknown Major General Mai Huu Xuan (pronounced Soon).

While adroitly staying in the background and out of the headlines, Xuan was the prime mover and the big gainer in the latest reshuffle within the junta that stripped ambitious and grand-standing Major General Ton That Dinh of control of the III Army Corps that dominated

How restless and strutting Dinh takes this setback remains to be seen. He may have to like it whether he does or not. He may have no alternative. Xuan may have left him none.

UNDER THE new set-up. Xuan not only emerged as head of police in Saigon, but also has under his command crack troops, including marines, formerly bossed by General Dinh. That isn't all.

Major General Tran Van Don, another top junta leader, who is close to Xuan, now has the new title of commander-in-chief of South Vietnamese armed forces, with authority to shift troops anywhere. In effect, that makes Xuan the military ruler both of Saigon, the capital, and the rest of the country as well.

Barring another upheaval, he can be expected to use this strategic power for his own ends and aggrandizement. That doesn't bode well for future U.S. relations with South Vietnam.

Xuan, who personally killed former President Diem and his powerful brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, is strongly French-oriented. He is French-educated and trained, and has close ties with French officials in Saigon and military authorities in Paris. He boasts of corresponding with General de Gaulle.

XUAN ISN'T the only member of the junta more pro-French than pro-U.S. — which is expending more than $500 million a year in South Vietnam.

Virtually all the ruling generals are the same.

A penetrating report on the junta, prepared by U.S. Intelligence authorities in South Vietnam, is arousing keen interest in congressional circles. Publishable highlights of this revealing study are as follows:

The military junta, composed of 22 generals, is French-trained and mostly substantially pro-French. Most of the generals are products of the usual French military training, and none has demonstrated either outstanding leadership capabilities or the flexibility of thinking essential for conducting anti - guerrilla

'Several of the generals are imbued with political ambitions, and there is substantial distrust among them of each other. As a result, each and every decision of the government is subject to debate by the full junta and a majority decision. No overall policies have been formulated, and the power of decision of the junta is heavily encumbered.

"THE CIVIL government, including the prime minister and cabinet, are French-trained civil servants and inclined to be favorable toward the French. Patient Sometimes Needs Reassurance

One of the most common frustrations of the patient is feeling uncomfortable and not knowing, or believing, the cause of his trouble. Therefore, it is not unusual for such unhappy people to get on the medical merry-goround, hoping for a diagnosis or for some other satisfactory explanation of their miseries. Consider this letter:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am 38 years old. I have had an ache in the left side of my chest for seven months. At times I feel faint and my heart seems to give a couple of hard thumps and then it will beat hard for a half hour.

I HAVE been to four different doctors. They give me a bottle of nerve medicine and say it's just nerves. I asked for an electro-cardiogram and blood sugar test and lung X rays. All are normal. It's been annoying me so much I'm disgusted going to doctors and hearing nothing but "It's your nerves." Can you advise me? - Mrs. F.

Comment: I agree that nothing irritates and depresses a patient more than the statement: "I can't find anything organically wrong. Everything's fine except for your nerves. They are the cause of your trou-The patient leaves the doctor's office not knowing where to turn or what to do next. He still suffers, but all the satisfaction he has is that he isn't really organically sick.

Yet, what is the doctor to do? He can't manufacture an illness that isn't there. For example, when a patient has skips that are harmless and a vague ache in the chest, the doctor is happy to say, "There's nothing orwrong with your ganically heart.'

But he mustn't stop there. In addition to prescribing sedatives, tranquilizers and other medicines, it's still the doctor's responsibility to try to ferret out the real cause of the patient's nervousness and treat it. Sometimes he can do it all by himself; at other times he needs the help of a psychiatrist. The doctor must be as sympathetic for the nervous patient who is organically sound as he is for the patient who 'really" has some organic trouble. However, he can only accomplish good results if his patient will stick with him for a while. If you keep changing doctors, all you do is compound your problems and discomforts.

For Mr. T.: When your doctor tells you that you have a 'ganglion' of the wrist, it means that there is a collection of fluid within a tendon sheath. It may go away by itself. Of, it may sometimes be cured by rupturing it with a blow from a book and then bandaging it tightly. Sometimes an injection of hydrocortisone will do the job. In some cases, the best treatment is surgical removal.

For Mrs. G.: Being able to take an injection is not always evidence of cowardice or bravery. Many a six-footer lined up in the armed services for his injections keels over in a faint when confronted with a needle or other instrument.

IN PRACTICE there are ways of making injections less painful for anxious patients. For example, an ice cube or cooling agent like ethylene chloride applied to the skin will help. In some especially sensitive persons there are three reasons why injections can hurt: the entry of the needle causes sudden distention of the tissues; there is irritation due to injected fluid itself or from antiseptic applied to the skin; or there is an abnormal sensitivity of skin or muscle. Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "How To Manage Arthritis," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin for handling. Address your request

No Stop Goldwater Candidate As Yet

WASHINGTON — On a single day this week, every New Yorkoriented columnist in Washington's only morning paper was touting the candidacies of Governor Nelson Rockefeller and other Eastern liberals for the Republican Presidential nomination. One well-known pundit stated that Mr. Rockefeller had been in trouble before the Kennedy assassination because GOP leaders in industrial states felt no one could carry them against the President. Now, he adds, this has changed. Therefore: The Rockefeller stock has gone up.

Let me say first that I believe the New York governor should have his chance at the nomination. Efforts to foreclose the chances of this or that hopeful have always annoyed me. But let me also set the record

FOR MANY weeks, I have been calling on the professional opinions of veteran newspapermen around the country. Through the instrumentality of National News Research, they have sent in a steady stream of material. These newspapermen experts in the political field, have disagreed as to the extent that Senator Barry Goldwater was (or was not) hurt by the accession of Lyndon Johnson to the Presidency. They have been in agreement almost to a man that Governor Rockefeller was not the beneficiary of the changes in Mr. Goldwater's for-

The idea that Governor Rockefeller will make a better candidate in the industrial states presumably because of suspicions that Mr. Johnson is a Southern conservative — is one of the big current myths. This is not a guess, straight out of my thumb. I believe it can be demonstrated.

Here are some of the facts which the journalistic pundits do not know or fail to take into ac-

The key to Governor Rocker feller's strength in the industrial state is New York. Since he is governor there and controls patronage, he should go big among Republicans and independents. Yet when President Kennedy was the opposition, Governor Rockefeller was abolutely dead

HAS THERE been any change since Mr. Johnson became President? The answer is: Almost none. A poll taken by one of the country's most reliable public opinion organizations shows that President Johnson would sweep the state overwhelmingly. The percentages in this poll - and I have seen it - are confidential. But they show Governor Rockefeller doing pitifully among Democrats, Republicans, and independents alike swamped by something like 3-to-

To make matters worse, the Governor does as badly upstate as in New York City. Upstate New York is Republican and it must be carried by at least 750,000 votes to give the GOP a plurality sufficient to overcome the Democratic preponderance in New York City. If Governor Rockefeller is as weak upstate as he is in the metropolitan area, he won't be able to win a race for dogcatcher.

IN THE past, Governor Rockefeller's influence has spilled over into Connecticut and New Jersey. But all signs seem to indicate that the slump in his prestige has affected those two states. Pennsylvania Republicans, already made restive by Governor William Scranton's flirtations with liberalism, are not enthusiastic about Mr. Rockefeller and, as a matter of fact, have shown signs of a pro-Goldwater revolt. The same applies to Michigan. In Ohio, there is almost no pro-Rockefeller sentiment. California, as always, is a riddle.

But the New York State situation is enough. If Governor Rockefeller cannot carry his own state - and only the New Yorker-oriented pundits even suggest that he can - his claim to the nomination goes up in sound and furv.

Added up, it means that the 'stop Goldwater" movement has yet to find its candidate. Governor Rockefeller will fight to the end, as well he should. But without greater strength than anyone today concedes him, he wouldn't be able to deadlock the Republican convention.

IT IS ON that deadlock that all the Eastern liberal Republicans are hanging their chances. Senator Goldwater has a job ahead of him getting the troops on the march again. But his numerical lead in delegates has been touched but little by the furlough. If he stands up reasonably well in the primaries, it's a lead pipe cinch that the

New First Lady May Play Active Role

WASHINGTON - While an image of President Johnson is beginning to develop, the role Mrs. Johnson will have as First Lady is not clear. But her history of unswerving duty to her husband's demands indicates she will play a prominent part in the naiton's news.

Mrs. Johnson is likely to become the most active First Lady since Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt. And if her activities in 1963 are any reflection of her future course, she may follow in Mrs. Roosevelt's

Last year Mrs. Johnson visited the depressed sections of West Virginia, touring retraining centers set up for the jobless coal miners. Johnson does not favor high styled clothing for his wife. Her hairdresser here said that the President is fussy about how Mrs. Johnson's hair is combed, never wanting it bouffant.

SINCE MRS. Kennedy finished the major redecoration of the White House, it is unlikely that Mrs. Johnson will be involved in any such project.

Certainly the First Lady will not lead the more retired lives which both Mrs. Eisenhower and Mrs. Truman led when they live in the White House.

Mrs. Truman was unusually retiring, never holding any press conferences. She continued the simple way of life she and her husband had had before coming to the White House. Friends of Mrs. Truman recall that even as First Lady she used to drive herself to shops and her hair dress-

'Cold War' Deception

Deception in struggles among nations goes all the way from the Trojan Horse to the use of innocent looking women as intelligence agents. Now that "cold war" techniques are becoming more polished, we should be on the lookout for diplomatic booby traps in Khrushchev's bid to free world nations for trade to help vitalize the sagging Soviet economy.

This is not the first economic war the world has ever known. England, France and Spain kept up a running hot and cold struggle during the entire period of colonial development. Today's tension merely places that of former years on a worldwide basis.

For example, Khrushchev has outlined a massive expansion of the Russian fertilizer and chemical industry. Apparently, speed in this development is essential he admits he will have to shop for equipment in the West.

Why the urgency? Does the communist system now want to do something for its subjects so it will be looked upon as a good sys-

Certainly not. But even a police state can be overthrown if the people are sufficiently aroused. And apparently, the Russian people have been pushed too far and too long by agricultural and industrial quotas. It's either some sort of reward-or revolt.

So Khrushchev wants to purchase whole plants and the industrial processes with them. This recalls the Russian reparations team in western Germany following World War II. The team told U. S. military government officials it wanted to move a cement plant back to Russia-lock, stock and too," answered the Russian.

Now, the Soviet premier himself is talking the same way. And it's a far cry from the realism Stalin used to boast about. The Soviet Union wants to buy whole plants, the processes with them, and wants them delivered on long-term credits. It furthermore wants vetoed the profits that western manufacturers are accustomed to make.

Such a deal already appears loaded enough. Prior to World War II, Germany, Japan and Italy bought our scrap iron and airplanes while they prepared to shoot at us. But at least they paid the price. Khrushchev, it appears, wants to "bury us," but even then he wants to buy his own survival equipment at cost right at the factory.

Another of the booby traps in Soviet economic maneuvering is the matter of patent rights. If Khrushchev wants to buy free world pilot plants, copy them, and use our machinery and techniques to develop big plants to compete against us, what do we stand to gain? Those long-term credits the Soviet leader wants from our banks speak nothing of payments for use of our patents and copy-

The western nations might be inclined to develop closer economic ties with the Soviet Union and other satellite countries. But we cannot do so as long as Moscow remains a closed society in the international community of nations.

This same society rules out any basis for balanced trade and international agreements concerning patents and joint process development. The British would never have agreed to finance the Spanish Armada back in the 16th century unless Spain would have first paid interest on the note and also paid for any British patents in the ship building process.

We could at least drive that hard a bargain with our principal adversary today.

Why, Mr. Bayles?

If as you say "there is nothing personal in this," then Mr. Bayles why did you wait until 24 hours before election time to attack my voting record on 3 bills?

You are still confused about the 1% sales tax vote (which you failed to state did not pass). I amended the bill to make it a dedicated fund for grant-in-aid private segregated schools. I then voted for it. If you believe in segregated schools for our children Mr. Bayles, then you would have voted for it too.

Only time will tell whether or not the great majority of the legislature that approved the bond and building commission vote for a new mansion were the ones who had vision for the future.

The $100 monthly expense allowance to each legislator was not a pay raise in the terms you imply. Only a legislator who sincerely serves his people and parish with full time effort knows the tremendous expenses involved to do so. I use every dollar to fulfill the duties of my office to serve more than 100,000 people in this parish.

As far back as 1961 it was a matter of information that I was 1 out of over 300 agents requested to write state insurance coverages. I stated then that I had a 5 yr. policy for a premium of $1,000 per year. It seems the opposition stems mainly from some who just did not get this business.

Out of the thousands of bills that I was called on to vote for or against, it seems Mr. Bayles that you found only 3 with which to find fault. I think this is very good record.

Why not be fair with me?

Out of the thousands of bills that I was called on to vote for or against, it seems Mr. Bayles that you found only 3 with which to find fault. I think this is very good record.

Why not be fair with me?

Give me some credit for the hundreds and hundreds of good bills that I voted for . . . and for the support, effort and work that I gave to bringing millions of dollars of improvements, benefits and building programs for the progress of Quachita Parish and our people.

JOHN McKEITHEN is one of the candidates for governor in today's second Democratic primary. He is a member of the Public Service Commission, a former legislator. Behind the campaign banner, he's also a person — a farmer, a father and a lawyer. Here are three exclusive pictures by the Associated Press which shows McKeithen of Columbia while he took a few moments out from the campaign earlier. In the top picture, he is shown talking stra-

NEW ORLEANS. La. (Special) — Gubernatorial Candidate deLesseps Morrison, closing out his campaign here Friday, said "People all over this countrybusinessmen, industrialists, investors, writers — will be looking to Louisiana Saturday."

Morrison, speaking to campaign leaders and workers at Morrison-Duzal headquarters. said "they want to know if we are going forward with a sound, honest, businesslike administration to truly develop the great resources of our state."

Morrison said he and members of his ticket, including Claude Duval for lieutenant governor, Rep. Jack Dyer for insurance commissioner and Roy Theriot for comptroller, have 130 conducted "a clean campaign." though "half-truths, falsehoods, bitterness and hatred have been the tools of the opposition."

Morrison said he thought Loui sianians are "tired of political bunk, phony charges and twisted and false comparisons and figures. We believe you want to know the truth what the candidates are going to do to get our state moving ahead."

Morrison reiterated his pledge for no new taxes and no increase in old taxes, and also promised to work to strengthen the state to work to strengthen the state school system, increase salaries of teachers and school employees and to lend greater assistance to colleges and universiti-

Morrison Says Eyes Of Nation On State Today

NEW ORLEANS, La. (Special) — Gubernatorial Candidate deLesseps Morrison, closing out his campaign here Friday, said "People all over this countrybusinessmen, industrialists, investors, writers - will be looking to Louisiana Saturday."

Morrison, speaking to campaign leaders and workers at Morrison-Duval headquarters, 6 are going forward with a sound honest, businesslike administration to truly develop the great resources of our state."

As an example, Morrison said "A few days ago The National Observer, weekly financial busi-26 ness publication of Dow-Jones, 30 acknowledged there is tremendous interest nationwide in this election and pointed out I had made a reputation in obtaining industry and business and jobs during my years as mayor of 42 O New Orleans and enjoyed a good New Orleans and enjoyed a good image." nationwide political image.

Morrison said, "These are the 115 kind of people we must cultivate and attract to our state, because they have the means and knowhow to help us develop our resources.

He added that unless Louisiana gets "A complete change in our state government, then jobs, business and opportunities for development will pass us by 127 of for other states.'

Morrison said he and members of his ticket, including Claude Duval for lieutenant governor, Rep. Jack Dyer for insurance commissioner and Roy Theriot for comptroller, have conducted "a clean campaign," though "half-truths, falsehoods, bitterness and hatred have been the tools of the opposition."

Morrison said he thought Louisianians are "tired of political 136 bunk, phony charges and twisted and false comparisons and figures. We believe you want to know the truth what the candidates are going to do to get our state moving ahead."

Morrison reiterated his pledge for no new taxes and no increase in old taxes, and also promised to work to strengthen the state school system, increase salaries of teachers and school employ ees and to lend greater assistance to colleges and universities. "I shall also continue our grants-in-aid program, but correct the abuses presently within the system," he said. Morrison promised to work

To The Voters of Ward Five

This statement is made in behalf of the candidacy of T. F. (Tal) Simpson, Sr. for Police Juror from Ward Five.

Tal Simpson was born and raised in Union Parish near Mosely's Bluff on Bayou D'Arbonne. There he attended local schools and worked on his family farm. Later, in his adult years, he was in the lumber business.

In 1937 he was employed by the Louisiana Power & Light Company, with which he held a very responsible position until his retirement in 1958. During his employment with the power company his work was mainly in the construction and maintenance end, and such experience as this will be well worth while as a member of the Police Jury.

Tal lives on a small farm on the Arkansas Road where he raises truck and cattle. He is a member of the Highland Baptist Church and is the father of three sons and two daughters.

One main purpose of this statement is to emphasize that Tal Simpson occupied a position of real responsibility for more than 21 years and that he would carry the same responsibility to the

The lightning didn't strike again.

Northeast State's young Indians struck like a lightning bolt to shock the University of Southwestern Louisiana 69-65 earlier this winter and become surprise winners of the first annual Gulf States Classic in Ruston.

But the Tribe couldn't generate the electricity to pull off a duplicate stunt before an overflow crowd of hopeful fans in Rrown Hall Gym here Friday night and USL took a giant step toward providing Coach Beryl Shipley with his first Gulf States Conference title with a 72-61 revenge victory.

The win, which gives the preseason favorite Bulldogs a 3-0 conference record, was to large degree a complete reverse of the earlier game in Ruston.

That time the Indians capitalized on USL's first half cold streak to pile up an almost unbeatable lead.

The World for WOMEN

MONROE MORNING WORLD Saturday, January 11, 1964 1-B

HOME AGAIN FROM Europe are Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Bondurant and small daughter, Michele Marie, who recently arrived to visit relatives in Monroe and Shreveport. They have been guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bondurant, 2212 Ann in Monroe and are spending this weekend with his brother, Walter Bondurant and family in Luling. A chemical engineer, Mr. Bondurant has just completed a year's assignment in Villars, Switzerland for his company. The family has previously lived in South Africa and Italy, among other foreign assignments.

MR. AND MRS. J. P. LINCECUM spent a week in Austin visiting with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Venable and son, Jimmy. While in Texas, they also visited Miss Betty Venable who is attending Sam Marcos Teachers College in Sam Marcos, Texas.

MR. AND MRS. W. L. MORRIS JR. of Huntsville, Alabama are the proud new parents of a second son, John Stewart Morris, born January 7. Threeyear-old Randy Morris has now taken on the role of big brother. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Morris of West Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stewart of Jay, Florida.

A NEW SESSION of bridge classes begins next week at the Y.W.C.A. with Mrs. Marcus Mapp as teacher. The Intermediate lessons begin Monday morning at 9:30 a.m., the beginners lessons, Tuesday night, January 14, at 7:30 p.m. The ninety minute classes will be held once a week for a session of eight weeks.

DEAR ABBY: You always give the same advice to the woman who finds out her husband has been unfaithful. "Forgive him," you advise, "and redouble your efforts to be a good wife."

I would advise the wife to pack up and leave him, and go to the comforting arms of her mother to cry it out. Then, when the husband comes to you on his hands and knees, and begs you to take him back, tell him you want more time to think it over. And make him wait some more. Finally, when he is really desperate, and begs you to come home again, go home to him, and you will live happily ever

AYCOCK * * * means independence!

IN THE LEGISLATURE

Lieutenant Governor Aycock as Speaker of the House helped put through the legislation that established constitutional Civil Service and provided voting machines for every precinct of the state.

BEFORE CONGRESS

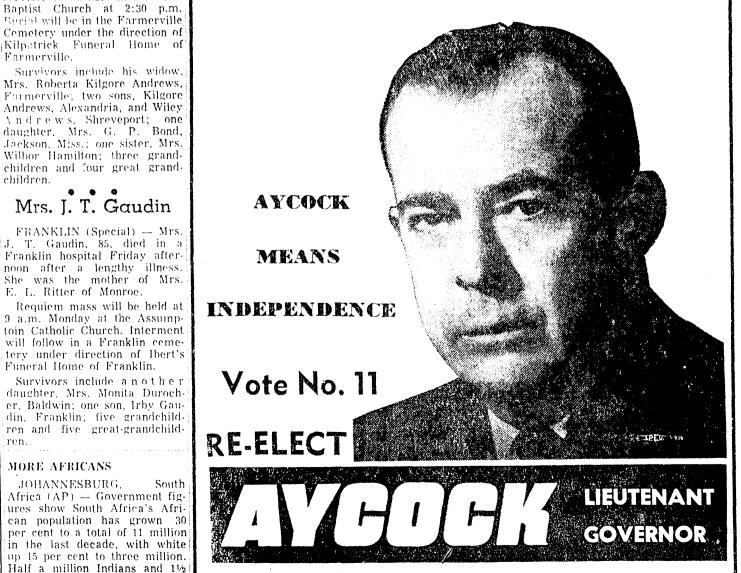

Lieutenant Governor Aycock made a forceful presentation in the halls of Congress of the state's position on the pending civil rights legislation, contending that the legislation, particularly the public accommodations section, was contrary to the Constitution and an invasion of property rights.

IN THE FACE OF CRISIS

When Louisiana was slugaing it out with the central government for control of the schools, Lieutenant Governor Aycock faced a federal contempt citation rather than violate his oath of office and turn his back on the laws of the state.

IN STATE GOVERNMENT

The Lieutenant Governor is the presiding officer of the state Senate. Unless he is independent the Senate cannot be free of Administration pressure.

AYCOCK * * * means independence!

IN THE LEGISLATURE

Lieutenant Governor Aycock as Speaker of the House helped put through the legislation that established constitutional Civil Service and provided voting machines for every precinct of the state.

BEFORE CONGRESS

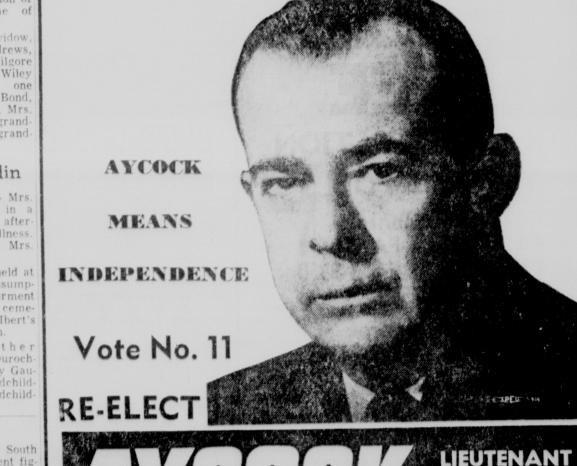

Lieutenant Governor Aycock made a forceful presentation in the halls of Congress of the state's position on the pending civil rights legislation, contending that the legislation, particularly the public accommodations section, was contrary to the Constitution and an invasion of property rights.

IN THE FACE OF CRISIS

When Louisiana was slugaing it out with the central government for control of the schools, Lieutenant Governor Aycock faced a federal contempt citation rather than violate his oath of office and turn his back on the laws of the state.

IN STATE GOVERNMENT

The Lieutenant Governor is the presiding officer of the state Senate. Unless he is independent the Senate cannot be free of Administration pressure.
